

Global executive coaching

Square Peg support

Drawing on its extensive international network of business consultants and coaches Square Peg put together a core team of excellent coaches and bid for the preferred provider status. Initial success came in our appointment to coach members of a divisional leadership team.

The result

Each of the executives to date have valued the coaching support and have shown significant improvement on delivering on their objectives resulting in improved individual performance ratings and bonuses! We are especially proud to be recognised as a preferred supplier to this important client and our work has now been extended to include the global Executives and a broad range of functional leaders and divisional line leaders around the world.

The challenge

One of the top market cap firms in the world were trying to rationalise the way they used executive coaching to ensure a business-focussed results-driven approach globally. They were looking to find a preferred supplier of executive coaching services who could support them in every country in which they operate
